

WORKSHOP CONDUCTED BY DELEGATION FROM THE Islamic Studies Religious Education Board of South Africa

A delegation of the Islamic Studies Religious Education Board of South Africa from the Jamiatul 'ulama South Africa (Ta'limi Board - Education Department) that caters for more than 20 000 students across South Africa will conduct workshops at the Kuraby Masjid this week.

These scholars and educationists, who have more than 40 years of experience living as a Muslim minority in a secular state; having faced the challenges some generations back that compare with those in Australia today; and having successfully developed a curriculum to counter those challenges that is so widely regarded that it is been translated into Thai, Spanish, Urdu and being used in more than 40 countries ranging from the Americas', Asia, Middle East, Australia and Europe, have been invited to address and assist the local community in developing a structured Islamic program with appropriate content, coupled with the required skills to impart this knowledge.
